

backintime
back in time

educational fiction for children

THE AMAZING JOURNEY BACK IN TIME OF TWO KIDS.

THE RUINS OF THE ROMAN FORUM.
A SECRET PASSAGE... A LEAP BACK IN TIME.
TWO CHILDREN FIND THEMSELVES CATAPULTED
BACK TWO THOUSAND YEARS IN TIME TO ADMIRE AND LEARN MORE ABOUT ROME AT THE HEIGHT OF ITS ANCIENT SPLENDOR.

Back in time, a story with a wealth of historically accurate details and information typical of a documentary, is a leap back in time to depict day-to-day life in Rome under the Emperor Augustus through the eyes of two children, Antonia and Filippo, who have slipped from the present into the past through a secret passage. Each of the six episodes of the 'docofiction' illustrates a specific aspect of ancient Rome to the kids, for whom a whole new world has opened up to be explored.

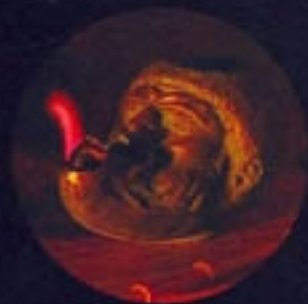

Back in time: six enthusiastic adventures in the past for a young audience. In the first episode, we walk through a street market in ancient Rome and see what there is to buy. In the second, we learn about the ancient Romans' tastes in architecture and decoration, not to mention the way they dressed. The third episode takes us down the streets of Imperial Rome. In the fourth, we watch the maneuvers of a real Roman legion. In the fifth episode, we take a peek inside the Senate of Rome and explore a Roman ship. In the last episode, we admire a few of the famous buildings around the Forum in their original splendor.

Back in time was inspired and made possible by the astonishingly authentic quality of the Empire Studios, sets of Lux Vide's Imperium series.

Produced by Lux Vide
 Written by Francesco Arlanch Directed by Fernando Muraca

Format 6 x 30'
 12 more episodes in development

Piazza dell'Orologio 7 • 00186 Rome Italy
 tel: +39/06/68394348
 fax: +39/06/6875692 • www.luxvide.it favalle@luxvide.it • vmosca@luxvide.it

LUX
 V I D E O

